The next time you walk down Miracle Mile, you'll discover a new restaurant in town — Cibo Wine Bar — and it's hard not to love everything about it. With the hip industrial-like setting, accommodating staff and fresh cuisine, you'll instantly feel right at home. Cibo was the location of our last Miami area happy hour event and our guests were thrilled to discover a soon-to-be favorite.

Upon arrival, guests were treated to a easy drinking glass of Zonin Montepulciano D'Abruzzo and found a seat at the open bar.

Soon after, guests were spoiled to a generous amount of hors d'oeuvres — Caprese Spidini; Assorted Bruschetta; Calamari fritti with garlic aioli and spicy marinara dips; Crispy Polenta with Bolognese — we were spoiled from the moment we walked in and the hors d'oeuvres got better with every bite that we took.

Crispy Polenta with bolognese

The team at Cibo really took care of us and they are running this new venue like pros. Although this location has changed names a few times over the past few years, Cibo isn't leaving soon — and it's well on it's way to becoming the new "it" place to be in the Gables.
