TORONTO - Canadian Olympic athletes will be given a Toronto salute as the the Olympic Heroes Parade runs through the downtown core Friday morning.

The public will get the opportunity to cheer on roughly 200 of their hometown favourites, including trampoline gold medallist Rosie MacLennan.

Canada won one gold, five silver and 12 bronze in London to finish 13th in the overall standings.

The parade caps off the 2012 Celebration of Excellence, which started Sept. 19 in Ottawa and ends Friday evening with a gala dinner and ceremony at the Air Canada Centre.

The parade will begin at 11:30 a.m. at Bay and Albert Sts. and head south on Bay to Wellington St., west on Wellington to York St., ending outside the ACC.
